

Osprey Media Group

Ontario headed for one public system

Barrie Examiner (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 202 words

Conservative or Liberal parties will prevent it. The fact of the matter is that our Catholic schools are already largely secular, having all but lost their Catholic identity through Episcopal concessions

Canada is all about equality

Barrie Examiner (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 235 words

desire to bring fairness to our school system would cause. Notwithstanding that the amount of Catholic students that get religious funding benefits, and judging from the Simcoe/Muskoka area alone which

School system a burden on parents

Barrie Examiner (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 191 words

They Stand, Aileen Carroll, Barrie Liberal candidate, says she supports government funding of public and Catholic schools only because they operate under the Ontario curriculum, and are integrated schools with ethnically

'True' public system would lead to tolerance, understanding

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 267 words to all faith-based private schools that meet Ontario curriculum criteria. At present the Roman Catholic Separate School Board is the only faith-based system receiving full funding. Under Tory's

Lively students face tough choice if school closes

Sudbury Star (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 344 words these students. The only other option is to switch our tax dollars to support the Catholic school board. Is this the only solution for taxpaying parents of children currently attending our

Faith funded school issue clouds educational woes

Chatham Daily News (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 434 words leaders of our province. If not so tragic, it has been amusing to witness the Catholic-educated premier, as well as the local incumbents, sacrificing any semblance of tolerance and equality

One issue dominated campaign

Brantford Expositor (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 840 words

GREGORY BONNELL - campaign promises, canvassing and partisan attacks, just one issue has dominated the agenda - the question of whether to extend funding to faith-based schools that opt into the public school system

Gov't record takes back seat to faith-based schools issue in campaign

Sault Star (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 655 words

John Tory couldn't shake school issue

Belleville Intelligencer (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 797 words

Faith-based schools trump Liberal record in campaign

Orillia Packet and Times (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 318 words

Tory's school proposal could give Liberals election win

Niagara Falls Review (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 503 words

Votes are against Tory, not for McGuinty

St. Catharines Standard (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 614 words

CHRISTINA BLIZZARD - is losing votes - oddly to the NDP - in the wake of Tory's stunning reversal on his pledge to fund faith-based schools and allow a free vote in the legislature

Conservative leader laments distraction of school funding issue

St. Catharines Standard (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 300 words

CHIP MARTIN - he learned from polls three years ago that the majority of the public opposed funding faith-based schools. But the Progressive Conservative leader included the promise in his party's platform

Every child in Ontario deserves equal educational supports

St. Catharines Standard (ON) - 10/10/2007 - 157 words

The issue of faith-based schools is continually being misrepresented as a free handout to religious organizations. Such rhetoric completely misses the point! Progressive Conservative Leader John Tory is not proposing